

Sandy Hook: No Murders in Newtown in 2012

by Jim Fetzer (with Wolfgang Halbig)

[I]t was very difficult to take seriously the idea that her grandson had been attending a school that had long since been abandoned. . .??Jim Fetzer

Wolfgang and I were featured on ?The Power Hour? with Joyce Riley, which may turn out to have been a turning point with the public on Sandy Hook for several reasons.]

Joyce has a large following of serious middle-class adults, who take her seriously because she is smart, open-minded, willing to listen to both sides but also no body's fool.

A woman she knows called in to explain that she was the grandmother of a six-year old, who had attended Sandy Hook and had been friends with one of the students who died.

It was a nice test case, because Joyce was very sympathetic to her and asked to speak with her daughter, but became skeptical when told that her daughter would not talk about it.

YouTube - Veterans Today -

Wolf and I presented so much proof that the school had been abandoned?that it was in deplorable condition inside and out, that it was not ADA compliant, and that it was loaded with asbestos and biohazards?that it was very difficult to take seriously the idea that her grandson had been attending a school that had long since been abandoned. Those who are unfamiliar with the evidence need to review, for example, ?Sandy Hook Elementary School: closed in 2008, a stage in 2012? and ?Sandy Hook: Ten more proofs that vitiate the official account?.

FBI: No murders in Newtown in 2012

The fifth of my five opening points?(1) Eric Holder having met with Governor Malloy a few weeks before the event, (2) the school having been closed by 2008, (3) the absence of any evacuation of those other 469 students, (4) the 'official report' not establishing a causal nexus relating the suspect to his weapons and his victims, and (5) the FBI report of crime statistics for 2012 showing zero murders in Newtown for 2012?came from a correspondent who uses the handle, 'MrSammo1?', and was subsequently picked up by Alex Jones' Inforwars.com.

City	Population	Violent crime	Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter	Forcible rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Property crime	Burglary	Larceny-theft	Motor vehicle theft	Arson
Ansonia	19,271	29	0	4	15	10	455	80	317	58	1
Newtown	27,904	7	0	5	0	2	185	32	151	2	1
North Branford	14,422	5	1	1	1	2	201	34	160	7	0
North Haven	24,119	12	0	0	11	1	578	63	478	37	0

Providing false data to the FBI is a felony with a sentence of up to 10 years. It seems to parallel the FBI's previous confirmation of claims made by the government involving Ted Olson's report of having received two phone calls from his wife, which it acknowledged had not taken place, or its admission that it was not charging Osama bin Laden with complicity in 9/11 'because it had no hard evidence connecting him to the crime?'. No doubt, contrived attempts will be made to 'explain it away?', following from USA TODAY, which contends that even FBI data is flawed and features the image of Adam Lanza:

*
Missing information in the homicide data isn't unusual. The entire state of Florida, for instance, does not submit data to the FBI. And for many years, Nebraska and Washington, D.C., didn't either. But the 57% accuracy rate is based on dozens of cases between 2006 and 2012 that were not reported to the FBI, which USA TODAY found through other records. It also includes erroneous FBI data based on coding errors. Nationally, there are about two dozen mass killings every year.

That sounds vaguely plausible: even the FBI's data base might be incomplete to the extent to which it depends upon information from local and state authorities, which might affect the thinking of those unfamiliar with Sandy Hook; but how could it be true when the FBI conducted its own investigation of Sandy Hook? This is the report, repeatedly discussed in past articles, which has been so very heavily redacted, where 64 of its 175 pages are completely redacted and the other 111 largely redacted. Can anyone aware of this fact seriously claim the FBI does not know how many died at Sandy Hook?and the number it publishes is 0?

[redacted] used to have [redacted] mov
[redacted] s used to have [redacted]
[redacted] was in [redacted] was in [redacted]
a [redacted] [redacted]
and the [redacted]
[redacted] believed that [redacted]
[redacted] or [redacted] had just [redacted] and was [redacted]
[redacted] he could [redacted]
Adam was always a trou
techno music. [redacted]
[redacted] and [redacted]. [redacted]
[redacted] had thought tha [redacted] drove worked at [redacted]

An excerpt of the files released by the FBI (Investigation) (Federal Bureau of Investigat

Because I have found the FBI Report difficult to track down, I wrote to the reporter for the Hartford Courant who published the story and asked for a copy. He has not written back, where Dr. Eowyn has put her finger on the reason why. As we are approaching two years after the alleged massacre, the FBI has still not released its Sandy Hook report, which looks like a striking example of the principle enunciated by Barack Obama himself on 21 August 2010: "The only people who don't want to disclose the truth are people with something to hide." And David Altimari of the Hartford Courant appears to be part of the scam.

Alex Jones features Wolfgang Halbig

Perhaps as a response to Joyce Riley's exceptional interview and to follow up on the discovery that the FBI's own crime statistics for 2012 show zero murders in Newtown where Sandy Hook is a subdivision? Alex Jones invited Wolfgang onto his own show the following day, which, in my view, is all the better because the more exposure to research revealing that Sandy Hook was a staged event and that no children died, the better, where Alex Jones has a huge audience rivaling even those of George Norry ("Coast to Coast") and John B. Wells ("Caravan to Midnight"):

YouTube - Veterans Today -

Wolfgang makes point after point substantiating that this was a hoax, including that no trauma helicopters were called, that the alleged victims were declared to be dead within 11 minutes, that the hundreds of other children requiring evacuation are not to be seen, that the photo to the contrary cannot have been taken that day, that the school was a toxic waste dump, that he has the "script" which appears to have been prepared by Obsidian Analysis of Washington, D.C. and has been publishing it with annotations on his site, sandyhookjustice.com, where there have been no lawsuits because no one died at Sandy Hook.

More proof the school had been abandoned

More and more proof comes in every day. Here is a video study of Bus 23, which should have included Sandy Hook Elementary had it still been an open school. But when a new bus company took over transportation for the Newtown school system, Bus 23 did not include Sandy Hook on its route for the obvious reason that it was not an operating school. They anticipated that it would be odd if a bus was not there, so they brought it in as a prop for this interview "on the scene". But there is no frost on the ground or signs of cold weather, which suggests that, like Shannon Hicks' "iconic" photograph, it was taken earlier in the year. And the road behind the bus is straight, unlike the road from the school to the firehouse. It wasn't even taken at Sandy Hook!

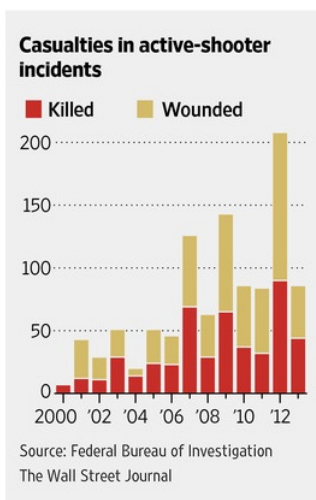

YouTube - Veterans Today -

Not only are no ambulances at the school to transport the shooting victims to hospitals where they could be pronounced dead or alive and no buses to transport the other 469 children to safety (not to mention some 75 teachers, administrators and staff), but John Stokes, who hosts a show on RBN, has observed, "There are over 400 students but not one bike! Don't think so." He has sent me a study showing that, in 2009, 31 percent of children in grades K-8 who lived within one mile of school biked to school. But at Sandy Hook, not one bicycle is to be seen. No children could have died at Sandy Hook, because no children were there.

National Coverage to Cover Up

Reading the national press, you would think that violent crimes are on the rise. Even the Wisconsin State Journal (to which I subscribe) has proclaimed, "FBI: Mass shootings in US have tripled in recent years?" (25 September 2014), which sounds rather alarming until you read the fine print and discover that it includes 29 killed and wounded at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Connecticut, which is not even consistent with the FBI's own report. Here is another example of spinning the data:

There were an average of 16.4 active-shooter incidents a year between 2006 and 2013, up from an average of 6.4 a year from 2000 to 2006. A total of 486 people were killed and 557 wounded in the incidents.

Many of the shootings ended in a matter of minutes: In 23 of them, the violence was over in less than two minutes, and two-thirds of them ended before police arrived. The study didn't include gang-related violence, drug-related killings or individuals whose primary purpose was to commit suicide publicly.

The motives vary, but the mind-set of the shooter is often the same, said FBI behavioral analysis expert Andre Simons.

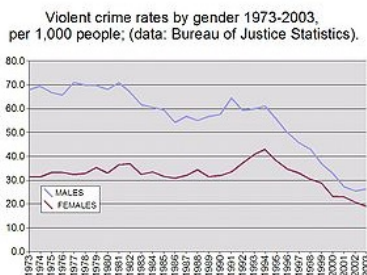

"Many active shooters have a real or perceived deeply held personal grievance, and the only remedy that they can perceive for that grievance is an act of catastrophic violence against a person or an institution," said Mr. Simons. He added that the shootings can bring a "moment of omnipotent control and domination."

BLOODY ACT: The FBI said more gunmen have tried to kill large numbers of people in public in recent years, with shooters seeking 'an act of catastrophic violence.'

The bloodiest year for active-shooter incidents was 2012, with 90 people killed and 118 wounded in 21 incidents. That year, a gunman killed 12 people at a movie theater in Aurora, Colo., and another killed 27 people, mostly children, at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Conn. Both were over in a matter of minutes.

The fact of the matter is that violent crime in the United States has been on the decline and is now at roughly the rate of its occurrence in 1966. Even TIME agrees the report is flawed by combining 'active shooters' with 'mass shootings', since only a small person of 'active' are also 'mass'. But that does not fit the political agenda of the Obama administration, whose Attorney General, Eric Holder, appears to have been profoundly involved in arranging the Sandy Hook hoax and just announced his resignation. That by itself is a remarkable development, which may or may not be related to his complicity in this act of terrorism on Americans.

Bear in mind what William Colby told us before his untimely death, namely: 'The CIA owns everyone of any significance in the major media', including newspapers as well as television.

And beware of those who would play the sympathy card by claiming to know someone who knows someone who knows someone who died at Sandy Hook.

The school had been abandoned by 2008, for which we have proof after proof after proof. No children died there because there were no children there. That is the single most salient fact about Sandy Hook, which should be used to convert the gullible who have been taken in.

Sandy Hook was deliberately staged to be an event with maximum emotional impact to instill fear into the American public in order to make us more amenable to political manipulation. That is the classic definition of 'terrorism?', which means that the American government has been perpetrating acts of terrorism on the American people. And the mass media has been playing its role in promoting the deception. We have been abandoned by our leaders and the media upon which we have depended in the past for reliable information. Take nothing for granted. We now have a government based upon lies, damn lies and statistics.

Jim Fetzer, a former Marine Corps officer, is McKnight Professor Emeritus at the University of Minnesota Duluth.